  - ii. the subject-matter of the complaint is trivial or does not warrant investigation;
  - iii. the subject-matter of the complaint has been or is under investigation by some other competent person or body or has been or is the subject of legal proceedings;
  - iv. the subject raises issues that require investigation by another person or body;
  - v. there is or was, in relation to the matter complained of, a satisfactory alternative means of dealing with the matter by the complainant.
- c. Where the President decides to take no action concerning a complaint, the President shall notify the complainant and give the reasons for the decision.
- d. Where the President decides to investigate a complaint, the President shall give notice to the Member against whom the complaint has been made of the nature of the complaint, with sufficient information being given so as to enable the Member to respond to it.
- e. The notice must indicate that the Member may make representations to the President before a specified date being a date that is reasonable in the circumstances of the case.
- f. The Member may, in accordance with any such notice, make representations to the President.

- g. The President is required to hear and to consider any representations made by the Member and to make a decision, as expeditiously as possible, as to whether there is a reasonable likelihood that the Member has contravened this Code of Practice.
- h. After hearing and considering any representations made by the Member, the President, if satisfied that there is a reasonable likelihood that the Member has contravened this Code of Practice, shall, by notice in writing served on the Member, require the Member to attend, at a time and place specified in the notice, before a Special Meeting of the ACLCA Qld's Executive.

NOTE: The provisions set out above are designed to ensure that a Member is accorded "natural justice" (or "procedural fairness") before any decision is made by the ACLCA Qld which might affect the Member's rights, interests or legitimate expectations. Adequate notice of the time and venue of any hearing, and the issues to be considered, must be given so that a reasonable opportunity is provided for the Member to prepare for and attend the hearing. There would not appear to be any general entitlement to legal representation or cross-examination. Any hearing must accord with all accepted notions of fairness. The ACLCA Qld is not obliged to inform the Member of all of the details of any complaint made against the Member or of the investigations of its officers. However, the Member must be given "sufficient information" so as to know the substance of any complaints and investigations. Sources of confidential information and the identity of complainants may be preserved. It should be noted that the investigation and disciplinary process set out above is not intended, and must not be allowed, to develop into a series of minor trials. The actual requirements will depend upon the facts of each particular case.
